- III. Action Items

1. Review Case #15-07325
Commissioner Morrisroe summarized the police report.

Mr. John Zawojski, the dog owner, stated that he opened his front door to get the newspaper and his dog, Finn, ran out of the house. He called for Finn to “come”, but Finn did not obey. He did not see if Finn actually bit or clawed at the other dog. When he walked over to the other dog owner, Mr. Lawson apologized and Mr. Zawojski also apologized. They both said everyone was ok and parted ways. Approximately 30 minutes later, the police arrived at Mr. Zawojski’s house.

Commissioner Urquhart clarified that once a person goes for treatment on a dog bite, the police are notified.

Commissioner Morrisroe asked what type of dog Finn is. Mr. Zawojski stated Finn is a male Springer-Spaniel mix, weighs about 60 pounds, and he is neutered.

Commissioner Morrisroe asked if Finn has had any other issues with biting and what kind of dog the other dog was. Mr. Zawojski stated Finn has not had any other biting incidents, and the other dog appeared to be a small poodle-looking dog.

Commissioner Urquhart asked if Finn is socialized and how he behaves on walks. Mr. Zawojski stated that Finn has played with other dogs, although with the recent canine flu he has not gone to dog parks. Finn also socializes with three children next door to him. When he walks Finn, he does not allow Finn to visit with other dogs. When other dogs pass, he keeps Finn close and sometimes seated until they pass.

Commissioner Urquhart made a motion to not consider the dog “at risk” and dismiss the case. Commissioner Morrisroe seconded. Motion carried.

The Commissioners unanimously agreed that Finn was not “at-risk” or “dangerous.” The case was dismissed.

Commissioner Morrisroe recommended that if Finn runs off again to yell “Sit” or “Stay” instead of “Come”. Also, she stated that if Finn appears before the Commission again, they may not be able to dismiss it. Commissioner Urquhart added that there are strict rules and restrictions if a dog is deemed dangerous.
